
WHY

Why participate in Transdisciplinary Education?

Our society is changing rapidly, and not always for the better. Many of these changes stem from so-called 'wicked problems': complex issues with no clear solutions. These challenges require a broader approach, where various disciplines and societal actors collaborate to create sustainable futures.

Participating in transdisciplinary education offers the chance to develop new perspectives and insights on existing challenges. Additionally, it prepares current and future professionals for a future in an ever-changing world.
